

Getting to Freycinet Lodge

From Hobart:

Freycinet Lodge is about 2.5 hours from Hobart. Cross the Tasman Bridge and take the Tasman Highway to Sorell. Turn left and follow the highway north, turning right at the Coles Bay/Freycinet junction about 20 minutes north of Swansea. Freycinet Lodge is approximately 28km from the junction, just inside the National Park boundary. You can arrange a National Parks Pass at the Visitor Centre.

From northern Tasmania:

Freycinet Lodge is about 2.5 hours from Launceston and 3.25 hours if travelling from Devonport. Take the Tasman Highway from Launceston through Scottsdale to reach the East Coast at St Helens, then head south through Bicheno to the Freycinet junction or follow the Midlands Highway south from Launceston, turning left just past Conara and driving through Fingal and St Mary's to reach the coast. Then head south to the Freycinet junction. Freycinet Lodge is approximately 28km from the junction, just inside the National Park boundary. You can arrange a National Parks Pass at the Visitor Centre.

By air

Air Connections are via Launceston and Hobart (Qantas, Virgin Blue, Jetstar and Tiger Airways), Devonport and Burnie (Jetstar and Regional Air Express).

By sea

The Spirit of Tasmania I and II sails between Melbourne and Devonport daily.

Car Hire

There are no hire cars available in Coles Bay or Freycinet National Park. Hire cars need to be arranged in Hobart, Launceston, Devonport or other regional centres. We recommend Europcar.
