

While at Freycinet

Where to dine

Enjoy exquisite cuisine, fresh produce and local wines at Freycinet Lodge. The Bay Restaurant is located in the main Lodge building with a panoramic view of Great Oyster Bay, offering the best Tasmanian produce including crayfish and oysters plucked fresh from the local waters. East Coast and other Tasmanian wines have been carefully chosen to match the outstanding menu.

For a light lunch after your morning stroll, Richardson's Bistro offers casual dining at reasonable prices; or sample some of Tasmania's best boutique wines and beers by the open wood fire in Hazards Bar and Lounge.

Where to stay

The separate cabins of Freycinet Lodge are sensitively set among native bushland, uniquely within the borders of Freycinet National Park. Timber boardwalks link them with the main Lodge, with its two restaurants, lounge and bar, log fire and expansive deck overlooking Great Oyster Bay.
